Should you glance into the future
For a dream,
Or turn to seek in highways long forgotten,
You would find there's little better
Than the yellow I school-day letters-
Which brought to sceptic men's eyes
Forth to shame.
And should you find a world to master
Can you think of worse disasters
For a dream?
TO MISS BVL. JOHNSON, who has set a higher standard of journalism in Olympia High School, and whose help and friendship have proved invaluable assets to her students during the last three years, this 1928 Olympia is gratefuly dedicated.
Greetings Gang:

Here's something new and snappy: a letter all about our school! And that's not all...there are pictures and maps galore of all our classmates at work and play.

This picture is of our faculty. Elmer L. Brocker is the city superintendent of schools. L. P. Brown has been our principal for eight years. He has been assisted the last two years by Clyde G. Campbell, vice-principal. Mr. Campbell teaches U. S. history. Other teachers in this department are: Morris S. Miller, McCollum W. Rickett, Nellie C. Smith, Alice Stanford. Our English department is headed by F. R. Hay. The other English teachers are: A. E. Backlund, Anna Chamberlain, Nina Crandall, Lily Everett, Mary Lucile Jenkins, L. E. Johnson, Elizabeth Macbeth, Glenn Troy, who is also girls' advisor, and Frank Hart, who teaches economics and sociology, as well as public speaking and debate.

FACULTY

There are four other languages taught here, Nina Cowley teaches Latin and Spanish; Hazel Guyan, Latin; Helen Marland, French and Spanish. There comes our commercial department, under the direction of Wanda McNair, who teaches bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing. Agnes Backlund teaches typing, Lucile Johnson, commercial arithmetic and bookkeeping, Stanley Summers, bookkeeping, Mary G. Horsman, shorthand, typing, and commercial geography.

Our mathematics department is one of our best. Katherine Morey, instructor of algebra and geometry, is in charge. John Konig, George T. Koven, Helen Marland, Nellie C. Smith and Wesley L. Clark (whose position is now filled by L. A. Anderson) also teach "math." Science also comes in its share of the curriculum. H. E. Cook, chemistry teacher, is head of this department. The other instructors are, R. P. Burke, biology and physics; Wesley L. Clark, science, replaced by L. A. Anderson.

The arts are particularly interested in the home economics course. Edna Mead has charge, teaching foods and clothing. Katherine Raindale also teaches clothing.

Special department heads are: John Faller, manual training; J. T. Johnson, journalism; Frances Lackwood, music, with Frank Hunt, director of the Boys' Glee Club; and Stanley Summers, director of the band; Anna Stanford, art and drafting; and M. W. Rockey and Alene Pierce, physical education; Hazel Lummus, library; and Ada E. Woodard, study hall.

And last comes our athletic coaches, M. W. Rockey, Stanley Summers, Morris S. Miller, and John Konig.

That our school has grown a great deal within thirty years is shown by the fact that it had only three teachers in 1868. At that time there were thirty students in the Olympia high, occupying three rooms on the second floor of the old Washington school.

For several years classes met here, but as the enrollment increased it was found advisable to move. The new location chosen was the old O. C. T. building on Second and Plum streets. But in 1902 another move was made, and the high school students at last had a building of their own, on the present Capitol site. However, this building was desired for short existence for in 1918 it burned down.

During the time necessary to build a new structure, students attended classes in various city churches.

Finally the last move was made, and the present building was occupied by 300 students. The building was able to accommodate 900, and at the time of its completion money believed it too large. In 1926 a large addition was built on account of increased enrollment, and thus we have our present Olympia High School.

The name of William Winlock Miller, a Washington pioneer was officially adopted for the school in 1907, after Mr. Miller had donated the land for the new building.

Mr. Ethel B. Bracken, who is now city superintendent of schools, was principal of the high school from September, 1918, to March 1, 1930, at which time Mr. Ronald P. Brown took over the position.

Six, in 1928, we have enrolled in our school nine times as many students as were in attendance in 1898.
